

What is claimed is:

1. A decorative method, comprising:
 - providing a base having a cohesive bonding material predisposed upon only an upper surface thereof;
 - providing one or more decorative or scenic objects, each of which has a cohesive bonding material disposed upon a surface thereof; and
 - cohesively connecting the one or more decorative or scenic objects to the upper surface of the base via the cohesive bonding material predisposed on the upper surface of the base and on the one or more decorative or scenic objects in a manner to create a decorative scene or arrangement on the base.
2. The method of claim 1 wherein at least a portion of the cohesive bonding material on the upper surface of the base has a removable release material thereon.
3. The method of claim 1 wherein at least one of the one or more decorative or scenic objects is selected from the group consisting of artificial grass, grasslike materials, a miniature animal, a miniature tree, a miniature house, and a miniature person.